TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION ........................................................................................................... 9

CHAPTER I. A PERSON AS THE AUTHOR OF THEIR OWN DEVELOPMENT

1. Towards self-authorship: From listening to external opinions to developing one’s internal voice .............................................................. 16

2. Kazimierz Obuchowski’s theory of the self-authoring personality: From performing roles to self-determination ........................................ 22
   2.1. Characteristics of the self-authoring personality: Being a subject, being a person and subjective standards of evaluation ...................... 26
   2.2. Setting future-orientated tasks as a condition of one’s self-authoring development ........................................................... 29
   2.3. Creative adaptation: Developmental mechanism .......................... 33

3. The self-authoring person’s ability to reflect ............................................... 34

CHAPTER II. CONDITIONS OF THE DEVELOPMENT AND EDUCATION OF A SELF-AUTHORING PERSON ............................... 39

1. Affirmation of the person as an autonomous individual: Personalism and its pedagogical references ........................................................... 40

2. The role of the autonomous development factor ................................. 46

3. Education and self-education: Support for the development of a self-authoring person ................................................................. 50

4. The main assumptions of the model of education for the self-authoring person ...................................................................................... 56

CHAPTER III. MARIA MONTESSORI’S PEDAGOGY AND THE MODEL OF EDUCATION OF THE SELF-AUTHORING PERSON 71

1. Love for the child as a source of Montessori’s pedagogy ......................... 71

2. Child development ............................................................................... 73

3. The idea of EDUCATION FOR LIFE as a message of Montessori’s pedagogy 88

4. The model of EDUCATION FOR LIFE .................................................. 98
Table of Contents

Chapter IV. Methodological Basis of the Research
1. Research on Montessori education in Poland .................................................. 107
2. Research assumptions .................................................................................. 115
3. Research subject and aims ........................................................................... 118
4. Variables and indicators .............................................................................. 121
5. Research method, technique and tools ........................................................... 122
   5.1. Self-Authoring Personality Questionnaire .............................................. 127
   5.2. Self-Reflection on Education in the Montessori System Questionnaire ........ 129
   5.3. My Experiences Questionnaire ............................................................... 134
6. Organisation of the research and the characteristics of the study group .......... 137
7. The analysis of the sociodemographic variables of the study group .......... 138

Chapter V. The Self-Authoring Personality of Montessori School Graduates Based on the Research
1. The concept of a heterostatic standard for the self-authoring person .............. 146
2. The general level of self-authoring personality among Montessori school graduates ........................................................................................................... 148
3. Subjective meanings of the self-authoring characteristics of Montessori school graduates .............................................................................................. 150
4. The arrangement of the three basic dimensions of the self-authoring personality ........................................................................................................... 168
5. The arrangement of the characteristics of the self-authoring personality with regard to the detailed criteria ........................................................................ 172

Chapter VI. Affective Meanings of the Personal Experiences of Montessori Primary School Graduates Based on the Research
1. Personal experiences of Montessori graduates captured in a pattern of feelings ................................................................. 178
   1.1 The profile of affective meanings of school experiences ....................... 181
   1.2 The profile of affective meanings of general and ideal experiences ........ 190
2. The arrangement of affective indicators of school and life experiences .......... 198
3. Variability of feelings in connection with the change of spatio/temporal perspectives ........................................................................................................... 203

Chapter VII. The Content and Affective Pattern of the Personal Superior Tasks of Montessori School Graduates Based on the Research
1. Personal superior tasks of the Montessori school graduates ........................... 212
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2. The personal life task as a prospect for development</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Development potential in operational tasks</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. The affective pattern of superior tasks of Montessori school graduates</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUMMARY AND FINDINGS</td>
<td>233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CONCLUSIONS</td>
<td>245</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>REFERENCES</td>
<td>253</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ANNEX</td>
<td>273</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF TABLES AND FIGURES</td>
<td>282</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>